

Inclusion Teaching Strategies Workshop
Making a bond between you and your Special Education Students
Location: Mesa Community College (Dobson and Southern Ave)

Wed, March 31 3:30-6:30pm

Workshop Description:

Are you unsure how to deal with special education students in your classroom? Do you know how to interact with the special education aides and teachers assigned to your special needs students? This workshop will be conducted by a seasoned special education professional tuned into the unique experiences of our Career and Technical Education teachers and students.

The following questions will be answered at this workshop:

1. How does it feel to have a disability?
2. How do students qualify for "special needs"? What is their disability?
3. How can knowing about Learning Styles, Multiple Intelligences and Differential Instruction help in my classroom?
4. What is co-teaching anyway?
5. How do I read the IEP?
6. What Accommodations and Modifications should I expect to make for my student?

Come experience an interactive workshop to increase participants' familiarity with and confidence in working with special needs students

This is a general introductory workshop that will address several program areas.
No prior experience or knowledge needed.

Participants will be paid a $50.00 stipend for attending. A certificate of completion will be issued to participants to document professional service hours for the workshop. Please check with your school district for their rules to apply for professional service hours in your district.
